A Changing Environment

This study was carried out during a period when Local Government was being restructured and various new frameworks for housing were developed. It was also a time when new dynamics such as land invasions and the impacts of the Grootboom Case became prevalent. In view of this changing environment it is important to emphasize that this plan had to be based on the "game rules" as at the end of 2000. However, in order to remain appropriate, this Plan must be seen as a "living document" and would require updating from time to time.
