VUYOKAZI MANDONGANA

Central Reference Librarian

Do you have a general interest in the history of Africa? Do you want to know more about our cultural heritage? If your answer to these questions is yes you have every reason to be happy because the Central Reference Library has a very special collection for you.

We stock a rich collection of Africana books that covers a wide range of topics of interest pertaining to Africa and in particular, Southern Africa. For any material to be classified as Africana, the sole criterion is whether the object is connected in any way to Southern Africa. Age and scarcity do of course contribute to make an item more desirable to collectors. The Central Reference Library is no different to any other Africana collection. Our collection contains material that was produced prior to 1940. Reading these books broadens one's knowledge of the worldwide human experience by presenting aspects that have traditionally been neglected by educational institutions.

Indulging in this collection will definitely unlock your mind. While on your way to enquire from your public library I will offer you a taster of some of our treasures.
